FANCY DRY GOODS

SILKS, NOTIONS, ETC., 265 Main St., bet. 7th and 8th

LOUISVILLE, KY.

OUR NEW FALL STOCK,

DRESS GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION AND QUALITY White Goods, Silks, Shawls, Cloaks, Embroideries, REAL LACES, HANDKERCHIEFS, HOSIERY, GLOVES, RIBBONS, &C. ALSO, Dress Trimmings, Trimming Silks and Satins, Trimming Ribbons, &c.

In our stock will also be found A Complete Assortment of Notions and Gent's Furnishing Goods Wherever our goods have come in competition with stocks bought East our ability has been shown to successfully compete in prices and styles with New York wholesale houses engaged in selling similar goods. With ample means for importing direct from Europe, and with a resident New York buyer, of long experience, who avails himself of all the advantages that Cash will command in that market, we feel that our facilities for getting up stock cheap are unsurpassed by any house in the country.

PITTMAN & CO.

John Gons. CUBBIN, GUNN & COOVER, Planing Mill and Lumber Yard. MANUPACTURERS OF

Doors, Sash, Blinds, Mouldings, Balusters, Newel Posts, Flooring, Celling, Siding, Palings, Brackets, Etc., Etc. A LARGE STOCK OF

1st, 2d and 3rd Quality of White Pine, Yellow Pine, Cypress, Laths, Shingles, &c. Nos. 161, 163 and 165 Washington Street, MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE. March 18, 1871-12m.

PARLOR AND CHURCH ORGANS. 274 Second Street, Ayres' Building, Memphis, Tenn. at HOLLENBERG is a Practical Plane and Organ Builder. Particular attention paid to the purchase, sale and renting of second-hand Planes and Organs, and to Tuning and Repairing Planos and Organs.

R.H.Anderson&co's

HARDWARE, CUTLERY, STOVES AND GRATES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

IRON, STEEL, NAILS, ETC., TIN. COPPER AND SHEET-IRON WARE.

Heating and Cooking STOVES of the most Approved Styles ALWAYS ON HAND. Also, Grates of Every Description. House Furnishing Goods

GLASS AND

MECHANICS' TOOLS

Farming Implements,

Jackson, Tennessee.

Cubbins & Gunn, Iron Lounders and Machinists

STEAM ENGINES, Grist Mills, House Fronts, Fancy Railing, and all kinds of IRON WORK executed Promptly and Well. Nos. 160 to 172 Adams Street,

MEMPHIS. AND COMPLETE SUCCESS!

SOUTHERN

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

Memphis, Tenn. ASSETS, NEARLY ONE MILLION DOLLARS.

BEN, MAY, Secretary; CHAS, T. PATTERSON, Ass't Sec; AMOS WOODRUFF, and F. M. WHITE, Vice-President; F. S. DAVIS, Treasurer.

IVIDENIES declared annually at the end of each policy year All Policies non-forfelling after two annual payments.
Prudently, honestly and economically managed, it offers special inducements to the cifyeand reliable Agents wanted.

THOMPSON & SIMMONS., Genera. Agents, Memphis, Tenn. Gen'l. Agent for West. Tenn., at Trenton, Tenn.

MUTUAL Life Insurance Company,

Offers its services to the people of West Tennessee as a candidate for Life Insurance, and in doing so will be controlled by all the wise and libunneres, and are national in their reputation. OFFICERS.

States, British Provinces or Europe.

AMES J. O'FALLON, President. A. H. HELLFON, Vice President. S. W. LOMAX, Secretary. H. S. HELLI, Assistant Secretary.

C. G. EGUATTON, General Agent.
W. E. HARVEY, Consulting Actuary,
THOS. A. RUSSELL, Attorney,
W. HATCH, M. D., Medical Officer.

DIRECTORS. J. M. Harney, Thos, A. Russe A. M. Waterman, A. B. Garrison, Jas. Luper Home Office No. 213, North Third Street.

Wheeless & Hamilton, State Agents, Nashville, Tennessee. R. R. DASHIELL, M. D., Medical Examiner.

HIGHAND HERIBI

The verdure of the May:

JACKSON, TENNESSEE, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1871. VOL. XXVII.

WHIG AND TRIBUNE.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, DON CAMERON. J. T. HICES. Under the Firm and Style of W.W.GATES&CO. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. - Two dellar year, invariably in advance. Single copies 10 cents. ADVERTISING RATES. - Advertison serted for a less term than three months s, or less, for the first insertion, and $1 reach subsequent insertion.

ADVERTISING RATES. E MONTHS, E. MONTHS, 12 MONTH 180.00

Tar One inch space constitutes a square. Where advertisements are ordered to be Sheriffs, Clerks and Rangers, who send their patronage will receive the Whig TO CANDIDATES-For announcing can-

A WOMAN'S ANSWER. Do you know you have asked for the coa Best thing Ever made by the hand above? woman's heart and a woman's life-

Do you know you have asked for the price As a child might ask for a toy? manding what others have died to wi With the reckless dash of a boy? on have written my lesson of duty out Man-like you have questioned me; low stand at the bar of my woman's sou

Anda woman's wonderful love?

Until I shall question thee. You require your mutton shall always be Your socks and your shirts be whole; I require your heart shall be true as God's

And pure as His heaven, your soul, require a far greater thing; comstress you're wanting for socks and for shirts.

I look for a man and a king.

king for the beautiful realm called home And a man that the Maker, God, Shall look upon, as he did on the first, And say, "It is very good." am fair and young, but the rose will fad

From my soft young cheek one day-Viil you love me then, 'mid the fulling As you did 'mid the blooms of May?

I may brunch my all on its tide? All things that a man should be; t you give this all I would stake my life

To be all you demand of me. You can hire, and a little to pay; But a weman's heart and a woman's life

Are not to be won in that way.

Paul Smith was a poor old man. He had a back room in the top of a ead and cheese (or Bologna szuage, when he could afford it,) and from whence he crept, as harmless and unnoticed as a fly, down the corner of the dingy street, to the tle music shop of Carl Bertmann, She will be a songstress of whom German settler somewhere, in this country will be proud. Ah, here she is!" "You have improved wonderfultruments, never absenting himself ternoons, when he went to the house of a small tradesman to teach the piano to three or four very stupid girls. Sundays he curled up in his knew how, until Monday morning. Clavering had placed a pretty neck-There are few certainties; he nevlace of coral in her hand, and then er went to church; but he picked gathered up her shawl and departed. ragged children from the pavement but when her teacher spoke, she M. C. C. CHURCH, Esq-DEAR SIR: when they fell near him, and gave cried out as if in mortal pain, and, I have examined with care the prin- gazing at her anxiously. "You look them half pennies when he had any, street toward home. As she turned shared his dinner often with a man-shared his dinner often with a man-street toward home. As she turned the friends of Chief Justice Chase gy, dirty cur, who acted as a sort of the corner she rushed pell mell into escape-valve for the ill-temper of the arms of a gentleman, who, on half the men and women in the seeing her pale and tearful said, for nomination to the Presidency. "It's not far to the Haydens. Do treet; and he roused Pat Ryan from "Why, little Camilla, what is the You are aware that since the people you think I would let you carry is midnight snooze in the gutter nany a cold night, and literally carried him home to Norah and the away! As for his honesty, a neighbor re- sad and expressive as the tearful leal movements and to devote my which she had suffered gradually mark, "if he found five shillings in eyes looked into his own, and for the street, he'd wear out ten shillings the first time he comprehended that judgment, therefore, which I shall in the sights and sounds about her. ings worth of strength and shoe he was a young man, and that his express as to the Chase platform and beautiful dresses, some eather to find the owner."

In gay and beautiful dresses, some and its acceptability to the Southleather to find the owner."

under one arm and a violin under the other, when at the street door he stumbled, and nearly fell over a "Wait for my return?"

under one arm and a violin under the other, when at the street door he stumbled, and nearly fell over a "Wait for my return?"

upon my general views as to the cognition, but most without noticing her at all—little stings they sentiment than upon any knowledge the cognition and provided the cognition of One cold night Paul was returnhe stumbled, and nearly fell over a small object crouched on the step.
"Bless us! What's this?" cried run away.

Paul, striving to regain his equili-"Only me, sir!" and the small object stood up, and became a very pale, thin and ragged child. "Are you hurt, little girl?"

What are you doing out here Nothing !! "Why don't you go home?" "I ain't got any!

Dear me! Where's your moth

At this Paul was dambfounded; home and improve the opportunities ence as to the persons to be nominated for President and Vice stealing down the child's wan face, he thrust the violin under the arm | ing public was agitated with min- for the selection of two honest which had held the bread, and put-ting the other around the tiny fig-ment and aws. A new songstress sound Democratic platform, and on orful nervous. Mr. Bart's just reure, he said, "Oh, Pve got a homea really jolly place! Come up and plecemeal ground down to the finest stantial unanimity. I think I can see."

shoes out of his poor salary. People wondered at the sight of gaged her for a single night at an al- racy. bent old man, hitherto alone most fabulous sum, and the world and uncared for; now walking daily | was to hear her voice. to his work with his hand upon the shoulder of the odd, yet pretty-crowded from pit to roof. The or-tion of candidates ought to be made rang in her ears—"I do suppose it's he joke came in. But old Paul of whispering voices and rustling preferences for the nominations to tainly, Bart, had a perfect right to coked unconcerned, evaded the silks arose in a subdued sound; and be made. This course is indicated get married; a perfect right to forworld than the little waif, Camilla. stage. There were many, many days, Suddenly there was a rush in the ern mind a jealous suspicion of Over and over again she said that he when rheumatism drew Paul up by vast building, and eyes grew bright Southern statesmen, which would never committed himself, and yet the fire in the old, back attic, and with eager anticipation, as from the render it imprudent in them to take her heart answered that he had.

You are right in preferring its cultivation to anything else."

An electric thrill shot through old Paul's frame, and quickened his bleed to a rapidity that oute car. blood to a rapidity that quite car- drowned the doubts, but yet a plainried away his rheumatic pains, and tive sorrow seemed to remain. It like some bright stream that leaps along. in a twinkling he was up the stairs came nearer, and the sorrow was and in his little attic.

He was terrified at the sound of a of something better; and then sudman's voice, but the sight of a hand- denly the strange voice broke forthome and polished gentleman, with in triumphal strain, and listeners Has laded towards the western sky, flamond stude in his snowy linen, a held their breath as the wondrous beavy ring upon his dainty white uotes rang out upon the air, and hand, unquestionable broadcloth then died away. For a moment a deathly silence back, in close conversation with his Camilla, whose wondrous reigned, but it was for a moment beauty had of late startled even his only; and then the building vibrated dull perception, was more than Paul | with a crash of enthusiam that came from the music crazed audience. He was a very small man-had Men arose in their seats, and hunbeen in his youth-and now that dreds flung their tributes at her feet. ed him, he was shriveled and dried

In one of the boxes, above the one like withered fruit, but in his virtu- where the music master and manous indignation he puffed out to his ager sat, an old, odd looking man fullest extent, and in his falsetto waved his handkerchief and cheered, voice piped, "Camilla, how dare you with great tears falling down his invite any one here?" wrinkled cheeks; and Camilla lookwhere advertisements are will be charged musually displayed they will be charged or according to the space they occupy; one Clavering, a gentleman whose—the only smile that crossed her lips during the night. "Whose mother she saved from But at length the curtain fell, and death. Your niece, sir, a few days Camilla, weary and worn, went on since, was passing through our to the dressing room. crowded thoroughfare, when my stood in the shadow of a side scene. nother's carriage drew up to the and when she asked permission to The horses were res- pass, caught her by the hands and ive, and bidding the driver attend | drew her out into the light. to them, she began to descend unas-"Camilla, little Camilla, is it yo Her foot was on the step, Have I been listening to my when the anima's sprang forward and flung her violently from her foothold. But for the sudden act "Mr. Clavering! When did you age

er work clothes and Sunday suit, the consummation of his heart's tion.

earned from increased number of wish, his quiet, unpretending, unof-

upon which they propose to present ling, embroidery, dress-making, for Judge Chase to the National Democratic Convention for nomination as that if she had not been rich she ly, my child," said the lady, holding the candidate of the Denocracy for might have been famous; everything She did not understand that Mrs. lowing is Judge Nicholson's reply: dress home," said Laura.

Union and American. when a carriage was at the call of COLUMBIA, TENN.,"Aug. 6, 1871 her beautiful daughter. "Dear, can't I take it !" she asked, "Oh, Mr. Clavering, you are going of Tennessee called me to the position which I now occupy as Chief she bent over and kissed her moth-Way!"

Justice of the State, I have deemed crr's forehead.

Richard Clavering's fine face grew it my duty to abstain from all politinto beautiful girlhood, and was ern Democracy will rest much more her, a few of them with a nod of re- Mr. Stetson -" and the widow could will you wait for my return?" sentiment than upon any knowledge were, but she held her bundle firm-"Wait for you! I am not going to on these subjects acquired within ly, lifted her head a trifle higher, the last twelve months. "You do not understand me. I regard the principles and policy corner, she came full upon an unex-Well, it is better so. Perhaps two laid down in the resolution on which Good-by, Camilla. Kiss me good-by."

you ask my opinion as eminently sound and orthodox, and those only, on the success of which, we can hope who vainly boy, with a feather in his cap, kicked and struggled with his nurse, who vainly pulled the obstinate It was a very quiet street, and so to prevent our government from be-child until her face turned purple. Camilla lifted her head and kissed coming a confirmed central despo-him. In all probability the child would have kissed him in the main of Southern character and sentiment of Southern character and sentiment

"What's all this?"

the girl, nearly crying. "When makes up his mind, it's a tiger

"We're all at sixes and sevens," young lady with him. I do suppose is, Miss. Just see him now."

thoroughfare as readily as there, I have no doubt that the great body Benney the youngest hope of the and I only mention the fact of the of the Southern people would corstreet being a quiet one to silence dially support Chief Justice Chase "W the startled propriety of those who or any honest statesman standing are shocked at the publicity of it. Well, there they parted. He to I do not think that the Southern go over the sea, she to remain at Democrats have any decided prefer-

The great heart of the music lov- dent. They look to the convention struggling for a moment. had been criticised, picked over such a ticket there will be a sub- turned from Californy, without no I think I can warning and brought a beautiful And this is the way old Paul came the most perfect musical micro- by his firmness, independence and it's his wife from what I heard, and to have a neat little house-keeper, scope, and pronounced perfect! And ability in the discharge of his judiate upset the missis, and made and to be buying calico gowns and now the manager of a first-class, cal duties, has secured the decided such a time. Now, Benny, ther's fashion patronized theater had en- confidence of the Southern Democ- that policeman so you better come. But, if I am not much mistaken in street and houses whirled around the Southern sentiment, it is the so that she had much to do to keep crowded from pit to roof. The or-chestra pealed forth a grand over-by the Northern Democrats, and his wife." The strange and sudden pride brightening his eyes; and ture, the expectant crowd filled the that the Southern Democrats would revulsion of feeling passed, howevhing as loud as she whenever air with perfume, and soft murmurs neither suggest nor advocate any er, leaving her deadly pale. 'Cerdestions of the curious, and learnit to love nothing better in this ord disclosed the elegantly-fitted ord than the little waif, Camilla.

Solden the property of the Southern get her—of course he had. Men have done such things ever since the flood of the curious, and disclosed the elegantly-fitted ord than the little waif, Camilla.

Solden the part of the Southern get her—of course he had. Men have done such things ever since the flood of time.

took breath, and another voice said.

"Child, you astonish me. Either I the ochestra began a soft symphony; am a poor judge of music, or else and then through the building pleasures of others.

"Lauranteen through the building pleasure of others."

[From the Friends' Intelligencer.] son!" exclaimed the young man, hurrying toward her.

But Laura's face was like steel.

She made a cold, little bow, and did ter with a Mad Buck. "The flowery spring, the summer's arden ringth, and the sober autumn, fading into ot choose to see the hand he exmore our years our youthful years it sippling currents run.

"Welcome home, Mr. Hayden;" she said, in a set, cold voice. came to bring some-" she could county, is one of the most success-That vanisheth ere noon, How rapidly and soon!

We turn a backward gaze, And live in memory o'er again little anger in the voice; "but—yes, I had gone into the park quali A path that Faith delights to tread, perhaps you had better go up," and hunting, and was down on my O'er which her light is sweetly shed, The earlier, fresher days. We do not grieve or sorrow that They all have passed away, Or that the summer flowers ha

It was queer how the stairs bob-bled about; but, perhaps, the thick dorps on her lashes would explain Though generally docile enough, it With sere and withered leaves, And wears her queenly coronal "What in the deuce makes her act so oddly?" muttered young Hayden, then in a tender voice, "poor little thing! it's pride, I suppose; but she might have seemed just the least glad to see me, I think," and he kicked a box out of his path, and want mondily to the dear.

"What in the deuce makes her act so oddly?" muttered young Hayden, then in a tender voice, "poor little demonstrations all indicative of war-like intentions. I thought I'd rise and drive the animal away lest it should be inclined to try its horns of a girl, with wistful look, and on my unprotested rear. But, as quiet tone and movement. His world are I was just in time to name was Philip, and her's, Jossie. Amid the gathered sheaves. Even when winter winds assall With chill and lev breath. We know that 'neath its frozen Veil Is hid the flower and wreath.

Thus, as the verying seasons roll.

Each in its period blest.

Should human souls pass on with hope To their Eternal rest.

Laura's Hislake.

Laura's Hislake.

Laura had been making out a bill against one of her customers, Miss against one of her customers, Miss Hayden.

Kicked a box out of his path, and went unprotected rear. But, as put would say, I was just in time to be too late. The deer gave a tremendous snort and bound, and I was knocked forward on my hands, and felt the sharp horns of the furious creature, as they tore through my cost and vest, enter my flesh. I have pretty good action, and as you may judge, a reasonable amount of physical strength, but I now felt that it large in the call strength, but I now felt that it large in the call strength, but I now felt that it large in the call strength, but I now felt that it large in the call strength is call strength, but I now felt that it large in the call strength is call strength, but I now felt that it large in the call strength is call strength.

"Mr. Clavering: When did you need, who received my mother in her strong young arms, the fall might have proved a fatal one. My mother at once entered a shop, and keeping your niece near her; sent for me. I came to-day, at my mother's earnest request, to express our heartful grattitude, and to offer —"

"Mr. Clavering: When did you against one of her customers, Miss mother to tell you. Bart, has come least one of her customers, Miss much to tell you. Bart, has come least strength, but I can't wait wait the fall might have proved a fatal one. Thirteen dollars, that's all" said the tired girl, letting her pencil dark, and—and" she grew desperate offer me. I came to-day, at my mother's earnest request, to express our heartful grattitude, and to offer —"

"You needn't offer Camilla a penny.

"Are you glad, so happy!"

"Are you glad? Are you happy? "

"At he said strength, that is all it that it with that it will be ing which she had laughingly said, the Presidency. A copy of the probring you Richard's farewell. He leaves for London to-night, and will remain abroad many years. Here is a little gift, as a token of remembrance."

In the Presidency of the proceedings of that meeting was forwarded to Chief Justice Nicholson of our Supreme Bench, and his brance."

In the Presidency of the proceedings of that meeting was forwarded to Chief Justice Nicholson
of our Supreme Bench, and his
brance."

In the Presidency of the proceedings of that meeting was forwarded to Chief Justice Nicholson
of our Supreme Bench, and his
brance."

Well, I suppose I must carry the "Only a few hours ago," was might have been famous; everything my attention, and quick as though I plunged my knife into it. It was a together in children. They had played together in children. The Mrs. Stetson thought of the time

Laura made an almost impercepti-ble movement. She was far from quickly dispatched my antagonist. but the prospect of still more ad-but the prospect of still more adcold now; her very temples burned. "Well, good night," he said, stealing a giance at Laura, as he arose, would permit me to visit the scene after answerering Mrs. Stetson' intires. "I've done my errand, and yards around bore marks of the

The mother's reproving eyes soon again seek an encounter with were fastened upon Laura. What did the girl mean by acting in this Way: swer "if you will come to so humble a place. You see how the wheel has gone around with us. Poor get no further. "Yes. I heard," he said pityingly, long ago. Annie wrote me. I am not of the fickle kind, Mrs. This was said with a reproachful glance at Laura. "Good night!" he said, the next minute, and bowed to both women. He had reached the door, when a faint voice called-Yes, it was Laura's eager cry. She was ashamed of what she had done, and heartly repenting. He came back with half-supsre ed eagerness in his manner, his "Deed, Miss, he is awful," said glance weary, but anxious. "When he

"I was just a little rude to-night, she said, looking dangerously beau-"Indeed I will" and he seized clans and newspaper editors in the her pretty hand, his eyes radiant. understand-oh, yes! I quite derstand-you were always such a sensitive little creature! So you they are pleased to term-policy or forgive me, ch?" he blundered. expediency. They would never de-It was you who were to forgive part from one of the ancient princie, I believe," said Laura demurely, o whisper?" said straightforward not get all they wanted, they would Laura heard, and for a moment her heart beating quicker. What compromise. These impracticable was going to happen? Had pover-fellows remind us of a picture we y done its worst for them. Was once saw in a comic almanac-the here indeed, bright hope for the fu- only portrait galery their pictures > ose to Laura's ear, and the second distressing maladay, a peripatetic me said the mystic words, that vender of patent medicines apime said the mystic words, that vender ad so long lingered in her mem- proached the suffering man and as-Laura did not repuise him. He sured him that he had a remedy which he would warrant to cure "elt then that her heart belonged to him. The old man turned aside a storm." him, that it had never gone out to with a conte

Pall's enemy. He turned one night a sad face from his warm corner in a separate for he lot he heart in the four state of political affairs to supprison the pains, and woudering what the pains, and woudering would become of his poor little Camilla.

His excitement carried him up to the string the sate fight of stairs, and hearing (Camilla's voice, he paised to rest, the first would becauty. The first Legislature under the special deathy. A roar like the rushing of distant that the Southern Democrats in the pains, and woudering would become of his poor little Camilla's voice, he paised to rever very near the tired eyes, for little, and the string the form of the second day of October the new Constitution of this State, consens on the second day of October the latter were very near the tired term to the first that the southern Democrats in the first the rushing of distant that the four the diversion desired. "The first Legislature under the swellod, avoided, or well adopt the diversion of the state, consens on the second day of October the latter the first that the first person she saw was sufficient to the first person she saw was sufficient to the first person she saw was she passing in that sweet and expressive manner which made her voice seem to him that sweet and expressive manner which made her voice seem to him that sweet and expressive manner which made her voice seem to him that sweet and expressive manner which made her voice seem to him that sweet and expressive manner which made her voice seem to him that sweet and expressive manner which made her voice seem to him that sweet and expressive manner which made her voice seem to him the flower in the face death of the noble fact cannot be shirtled or must toil, and toil merched the will not be welling, it receded, leaving her the first person she the very leaving the term of the shear the had lots somebody. The leaves all classes-whoever is ignorant is test of practical statesmanship. "Laura-my dear, dear Miss Stet, vulgar.

LIFE AND DEATH.

What is Life? A twisted yarn-a tangled skein-A mingled web of joy and pain-A glancing sunbeam, warm and bright-A hanging cloud more dark than night-A beauteous flower of sweetest scent-A murky cave where poisons pent-A golden cup with nectar sweet-A blackened bowl, where bitters meet-The lightest feather that can rise-A heavy weight repressing sighs-A lucid stream with rapid flow-A stagnant pool, where dark weeds gro A Summer breeze that cools the air-A huricane that makes earth bare-A gift enjoyed with grateful heart-A load with which we long to part-

MATLOCK OF McMINN.

now seemed bent on mischlef, stam

I scarcely know how I reached home.

GENTLY FLOW.

Faintly flow thou falling river

Down to ocean gliding ever

'o Eternity's dark ocean

Like a dream that dies away,

Keep thy calm, unruffled way,

Time, with such a silent motion

Floats along on wings of sir.

Burying all its treasures there

Cheeks are bright, then fade and die!

hapes of light are wafted hither-

Then, like visions, burry by.

O'er the many-colored West,

Years are bearing us to Heaven-

Home of Happiness and rest.

sense in the following manner.

a bourbon paper, vindicates its good

There is a class of noisy politibout their love and adhesion to prin ciple, and their abhorrence of what ples of the party, for the sake of pohave none-had rather lose the last vestige of liberty, than make any her lips quivering, ready to cry and licy, but would rather see the Grant

Bart put his full, shinning beard was suffering terribly with some Avalanche.

And such is life! Mr. H. H. Matlock, living two What is Death? A sleep that ends our mortal palu, not say work, "something for your sister. I generally go to her room. Is she there?"

ful and reliable farmers in the region; hence the occurrence we are about to relate may be relied.

A cherub fair, with placid miss.—

A cherub fair, with placid miss.—

A cherub fair, with placid miss.— He fell back a little. Strange how the light went out of his face.
"I—I rather think she may be engaged," he said in a Blundering, confused way; there might have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a little anger in the voice: "but we will let Mr. Matiock relate have been a li I had gone into the park quair A path that Faith delights to tread, knees arranging my net, when hear- That leads from mortal woe and strife "He did not like to speak of his ing a noise in the rear I looked over my shoulder to ascertain the cause. A blessing sent us from on high—Laura to herself, a choking sensature to herself, a large buck. He was a splendid fel-

PEACH STONES.

an cloquent glance from an expressive pair of eyes.

Then from the gloomy lodging-house to a snug set of chambers a few streets off, went Paul and Camilla, and the poor wretch began to look like another being, in his cleanier work clothes and Sunday suit, earned from increased number of pupils provided through the will-ng assistance of their philanthroping assistance of their philanthroping assistance of their philanthroping.

and laid a scaled envelop on the ta- pressed forward I felt I was being stood watching him over the hill, was at length rescued by a passing gored to death. At this moment, until he was out of sight. Then she vessel. "When did you get home?" asked Mrs. Stetson, as soon as she had ed Mrs. Stetson, as soon as she had entered her home, full of the end, all the sorrow and dread of a coming things growing darker as the tale proceeded, then consciousness van-charge. Poor girl! I'm afraid home have been the result had we been ripened into love. so rudely acquainted with the sad is not going to help her much, or, left to ourselves, but a young man Philip was a successful and pros-

It was some days before my wounds would permit me to visit the scene faring life. Mrs. Stetson, you at least will let me come sometimes and talk with you won't you, for the sake of old times?"

Only one more voyage was necessary, ere he could take up his new sary, ere he could take up his new so, when she announced her intensive miployment in carnest; and he was surprised to hear Jessie's expressed to hear Jessie's expresse > trous fingers, he soon had the fairy baskets fashioned to his thought, future, of which the fragile toys were souvenir and token. Finished at last, polished with sand paper, y away and sought his chamber .-His drems were of Jessie and the and hurrying through his last prepthe long separation that must elapse, and the days that must pass, ere he could greet again the shy, tender maiden, or read his welcome in her could greet again the shy, tender maiden, or read his welcome in her loving eves. Jessie's sake, during the coming wretches. As usual she ass broke the silence. "A penny for your thoughts, Jesone of the patients, and stood beside her in an instant, bending over the for the prosperity of my voyage?" She looked up, and he saw she was

Offers its survices to the people of West Tennessee as a candidate for reader it impredent in them to take of a day prominent part in indicating the penny out of the displayed features, and whispered, and with eager auticipation, as from the displayed features, and with eager auticipation, as from the displayed features, and with eager auticipation, as from the displayed features, and with eager auticipation, as from the displayed features, and with eager auticipation, as from the displayed features, and with eager auticipation, as from the displayed features, and with eager auticipation, as from the displayed features, and with eager auticipation, as from the displayed features, and with eager auticipation, as from the displayed features, and with eager auticipation, as from the displayed features and provides. A tall, graceful girl, with gleans and yor other. So it happened to this when he died has a day other. So it happened to this when he died has a day other. So it happened to the wing came that he had and the who he died has for you, Philip, I feel no good will camilla, nearly of your provides and whispered, and with eager auticipation, as from the wing came the debutants. A tall, graceful girl, with gleans and yor other. So it happened to whisper, she said to word and the who he died he for you. Philip, I feel no good will do not a see that the whole whisper, she said to word the wing shoulders, and white period to acquise see recognized to acquise see generally in the widow in patient when he debut when he died to whisper, she said to read of your provide the wing shoulders, and white period to acquise see generally in the widow in patient when he died to whisper, she said to wing the word of white the wing shoulders, and white a crown of purpose of our tawle or the two your great and the wind when he died to whisper, she said to write the sould direct the far and the wind when he died to whisper, she said to write the sould did the wind when he did the wind when he died to we will did the wind when he Lay a bridge of silver for a flying enemy.

Philip endeavored to turn her attention to something else, and for that purpose, produced the baskets he had made the evening before.

The nurse looked on in amazement:

"That is because your great love makes you selfish, sweet one. Cease conjuring up these gloomy fancies, and think of the bright future in store for you and ma. Come, let us walk out to the cliff and look over the sea together; afterwards I will say good-bye to your father and mother. Come, it will be our last walk for many a day;" putting his arm about her, they went over the familiar path toward the clift. The sun smiled down on them benignantly. The sky was all screne, and the blue waters of the bay were leaping and dancing in thousands of tiny waves in the golded light.
Off on the horizon, white sails were seen, like minute dots on the broad expanse.

Philip and Jessic stood on the cliff from this hateful trip. O, I never so trembled to say 'good-bye,' be-brow, looking silently over the water, each busied with their own thoughts, and filled with mixed motions of pleasure and pain. "Jessie," said her lover, "I would like you to come to the cliff every norning, until I come home, and think of my return, and how happy we shall be together. I will think of you, and pray for your welfare at the same hour, and it shall be still another link to bind us to each other. You will wear the basket always,

"Always, Philip. Your every wish is a command to me. Every morning I will come to the cliff." "Thanks, dearest, but I would not be too exacting. I do not ask you "God grant there may be no storms until you return safe, Philip."

"Amen to the prayer; but come,

His your father and mother a few mo-They turned toward the cottage and Jessie never forgot how blue the sky was, that seemed to blend so brightly above the sorrowful part-> words said, the last kisses and ca-resses exchanged, and Jessle, from the summit of the hill-path, had seen mecking water, dotted with white, distant sails, thinking only that she was alone, and wondering which of morring.

"At the same and search offer Camilla, and I am said."

"At the same and to be recomplished by the I've apair of hands to work for her, and laid far wary head her, that she might be often to be dressing-room, and who her, that she might be often to be dressing-room, and who her, that she might be often to be dressing-room, and who her, that she might be often to be dressing-room, and who her, that she might be often to be dressing-room, and who her, that she might be often to be dressing-room, and who her, that she might be often to be dressing-room, and who her, that she might be often to be dressing-room, and who her, that she might be often to be dressing-room, and who her, that she might be often to be dressing-room, and who her, that she might be due to you shand it be in light you can't get the world. The great lastrous eyes of the child turned imploringly to her new and the property and the transport of the pay in the property and education. The property and education from the ground, and in word way. I know you're every bit to be property and education, the property and education from the ground and and in world way."

"And you will only skip—" the consummation of his heart's form increased number of monitories and number of monitories and

but the prospect of still more ad- her eyes, and returned to a full realvantageous employment on shore, ization of her bereavement; but coupled with Jessie's dread of the when her friends looked to see her sea, decided him to abandon a sea- break out into weeping and wild Only one more voyage was neces- her stony calmness, and still more

Somewhat vexed at her super-stitious folly, as he termed it, but not a whit daunted by her forebod-lass to reason with the stricken ings, he completed his arrangements, | mind, her parents acquiesced, and and then set to work on the peach | she started on her quest, only prom stones he had brought away with ising to return if it were fruitless him. Using knife and file with dexport town on the coast had been mingling with the grating of the file, unuttered thoughts and loving wishes, brightened by the hopes of a rosy fature, of which the fragile toys even the sailors had learned to look open her with pity.
Often she would visit her bome until they shone again, and daintily varnished, Philip laid them carefuland old haunts, spending her hours upon the cliff, "Where her dim eyes wistfully Chased the white sails o'er the sea." But her fancies seemed all at one The golden sun woke him betimes, to have taken a new turn. It was now the marine hospitals and sail-The Trenton Gazette, whose editor has been clasped by some, as and love's impatience, he was soon on his way to Jessie's home. The received everywhere, her gentle petite figure was waiting for him at the summit of the hill-path, the sun a welcome guest. light on her hair, and the lovelight | One day the hospital which was in ber eyes. Philip thought, for the her abode, received several new infirst time, almost with a pang, of mates, some of whom had been giv-

> But he put away all these feelings her heart sink and rebel at the as unworthy of him, and resolved to thought that her Philip, if living, look on the bright side, if only for might resemble one of these poor parting; so putting on his sunniest | the nurses in caring for the suffer They walked on for a little disher kindly ministrations. tance without speaking, when Philip | One of the nurses asked particularly her aid in assisting her to raise amine it, and caught a glimpse of a So it happened that, after that evening, Bart. Hayden kept calling, and that the widow invariably left would die scientifically."

So it happened that, after that evening, Bart. Hayden kept calling, and that the widow invariably left would die scientifically."

the cruel, treacherous sea. I fear for you, Philip, I feel no good will which Jessie's eyes recognized, and her partially darkened mind passing the two younger people together; and the end of it was, a brilliant are determed to ruin the country and the end of it was, a brilliant are determed to ruin the country inches to beguite her happy, far-off scientifically, rather than restore the Government by the use of a lit-

The nurse looked on in amazement:

The most delicate, the most sentaking the boxes up stairs. What is taking the boxes up stairs. What will replace it, when I return, by a be pointed out and subjected to the boxes up stairs. What in the Constitution will, of course, by a course, be pointed out and subjected to the boxes up stairs. What is their love an the stronger for their love and the boxes up stairs. What is the course, by a course, be pointed out and subjected to be point "Never mind the gold, Philip; so reached that country where; here is you come home safe and unharmed "no more sea."

and drawn, pinched face seem "My love, my darling, I must chide miliar, but, as the nurse laid back you. My brave little sea-maiden, why do you weep? Jessie, I thought you were as brave a fisherman's pended round his neck. With a low pended round his neck. With a low pended round his neck. daughter as ever trod the shingle in exclamation, she best closer to exwith a contemptuous scowl upon his countenance and said, "No, he had now I have such a dread of the sea— which bore no resemblance to any-